

---

BRIEF CONTENTS

Preface .....	xv
Part I An Introduction
1 History of Health Insurance in the United States .....	3
2 A Summary of Insurance Coverage .....	21
3 The Demand for Health Insurance .....	33
Part II Issues of Adverse Selection
4 Adverse Selection .....	49
5 Underwriting and Rate Making .....	61
6 Risk Adjustment .....	77
Part III Issues of Moral Hazard
7 Moral Hazard and Prices .....	93
8 Utilization Management .....	117
Part IV Managed Care and Selective Contracting
9 Selective Contracting: Managed Care and Hospitals .....	131
10 Managed Care and Physicians .....	147
11 Managed Care Backlash, Provider Consolidation, Monopsony Power, and Most Favored Nation Clauses .....	157
Part V Employer-Sponsored Health Insurance
12 Premium Sensitivity for Health Insurance .....	177
13 Compensating Differentials .....	189

14	Taxes and Employer-Sponsored Health Insurance . . . . .	203
15	Employers as Agents . . . . .	217
Part VI Special Topics in Health Insurance
16	Health Savings Accounts and Consumer-Driven Health Plans . . . . .	235
17	The Small-Group Market . . . . .	253
18	Health Insurance Regulation . . . . .	271
19	The Individual Insurance Market . . . . .	287
20	High-Risk Pools . . . . .	303
Part VII Medicare, Medicaid, and Private Coverage
21	An Overview of Medicare . . . . .	315
22	Retiree Coverage
23	Medicaid, “Crowd-Out,” and Long-Term Care Insurance . . .	333
An Endnote—A Course Summary . . . . .		349
References . . . . .		367
Name Index . . . . .		393
Subject Index . . . . .		.000
About the Author . . . . .		.000

CONTENTS

Preface ..... xv

Part I An Introduction

1 History of Health Insurance in the United States ..... 3

    Prehistory: Workers' Compensation ..... 3

    The Great Depression ..... 5

    Early Growth of Health Insurance: The 1940s and 1950s ..... 10

    Experience Rating, Medicare, Medicaid, and ERISA:
        The 1960s and 1970s ..... 12

    Managed Care and Beyond: The 1980s, 1990s, and 2000s ..... 14

2 A Summary of Insurance Coverage ..... 21

    The Extent of Coverage ..... 21

    The Uninsured ..... 24

    Employer-Sponsored Coverage ..... 26

    Medicare ..... 29

    Medicaid ..... 30

3 The Demand for Health Insurance ..... 33

    The Theory of Insurance ..... 33

    Hypothesis I: The Degree of Risk Aversion ..... 37

    Hypothesis II: The Size of the Potential Loss ..... 38

    Hypothesis III: The Probability of Loss ..... 39

    Hypothesis IV: The Wealth Effect ..... 41

    Taxes and Employer-Sponsored Health Insurance ..... 42

Part II Issues of Adverse Selection

4 Adverse Selection ..... 49

    "HMO Effect" vs. Favorable Selection ..... 50

    Evidence of an HMO Effect ..... 52

	Evidence of Favorable Selection . . . . .	.53
	Favorable Selection in the Medicare Program . . . . .	.55
	Persistence of Favorable Selection over Time . . . . .	.57
	Selection Bias in Non-HMO Settings . . . . .	.58
5	Underwriting and Rate Making . . . . .	.61
	Premium Computations . . . . .	.61
	Objective Risk . . . . .	.62
	Nature of Underwriting . . . . .	.64
	Approaches to Rating . . . . .	.66
	Self-Insured Plans . . . . .	.68
	Manual Rating Methods Used by HMOs . . . . .	.70
	The Consequences of Combining Dissimilar Groups . . . . .	.73
6	Risk Adjustment . . . . .	.77
	Medicare Adjusted Average Per Capita Costs (AAPCC) . . . . .	.77
	Improving the AAPCC . . . . .	.78
	Implications of Better Risk Adjustment . . . . .	.81
	Generalizing the RAND Findings . . . . .	.83
	Medicare’s Current AAPCC Approach to Risk Adjustment . . . . .	.83
	Other Uses of Risk-Adjustment . . . . .	.88
 Part III Issues of Moral Hazard
7	Moral Hazard and Prices . . . . .	.93
	The Nature of Moral Hazard . . . . .	.94
	Early Efforts to Estimate the Extent of Moral Hazard . . . . .	.95
	The RAND Health Insurance Experiment . . . . .	.97
	Moral Hazard and Specific Types of Health Services . . . . .	.102
	Deductibles . . . . .	.112
8	Utilization Management . . . . .	.117
	Defining Utilization Management . . . . .	.117
	Preadmission Certification and Concurrent Review . . . . .	.119
	The Second Generation of UM Studies . . . . .	.121
	Effectiveness of Gatekeeping . . . . .	.126
	Disease Management and Intensive Case Management . . . . .	.127
 Part IV Managed Care and Selective Contracting
9	Selective Contracting: Managed Care and Hospitals . . . . .	.131
	The “Golden Era” of Hospitals . . . . .	.131

	The Advent of Selective Contracting . . . . .	132
	Generalizing the Evidence on Selective Contracting . . . . .	136
	Other Effects of Selective Contracting . . . . .	139
	Favorable Selection versus Selective Contracting . . . . .	142
10	Managed Care and Physicians . . . . .	147
	Managed Care and Physician Contracting . . . . .	147
	Managed Care and Physician Earnings . . . . .	148
	Effects of Managed Care Payment Methods on Medical Group Practice . . . . .	151
	Managed Care and Physician Location Decisions . . . . .	154
11	Managed Care Backlash, Provider Consolidation, Monopsony Power, and Most Favored Nation Clauses . . . . .	157
	Why Have Insurance Premiums Increased Since the Mid-1990s? . . . . .	157
	Do Managed Care Plans Have Monopsony Power? . . . . .	164
	Most Favored Nation Clauses . . . . .	167
Part V Employer-Sponsored Health Insurance
12	Premium Sensitivity for Health Insurance . . . . .	177
	Early Studies of Premium Sensitivity . . . . .	177
	Employee Premium Sensitivity . . . . .	180
	Insurance Take-up Rates . . . . .	185
13	Compensating Differentials . . . . .	189
	The Nature of the Labor Market . . . . .	189
	Why Do Employers Provide Health Insurance? . . . . .	190
	Implications of Compensating Differentials . . . . .	192
	Evidence of Compensating Differentials . . . . .	194
	A Natural Experiment in Compensating Differentials . . . . .	199
14	Taxes and Employer-Sponsored Health Insurance . . . . .	203
	The Tax Treatment of Health Insurance . . . . .	203
	Size of the Health Insurance Tax Expenditures . . . . .	207
	Estimates of the Effects of Tax Rates on Health Insurance . . . . .	209
	Taxes and Employee Premium Contributions . . . . .	213
15	Employers as Agents . . . . .	217
	Employee Perceptions of Employer Plans . . . . .	218
	Labor Market Sorting . . . . .	218
	Two-Earner Households . . . . .	221
	Employee Premium Contributions . . . . .	224
	Information on Plan Quality . . . . .	228

Part VI Special Topics in Health Insurance

16	Health Savings Accounts and Consumer-Driven Health Plans . . . . .	235
	Health Savings Accounts . . . . .	235
	Medical Savings Accounts . . . . .	237
	Flexible Spending Accounts . . . . .	237
	Consumer-Driven Health Plans . . . . .	238
	The Economics of HSAs . . . . .	241
	Enrollment in HSAs and CDHPs . . . . .	245
	Actual Estimates of Early Enrollment . . . . .	246
	More-Rigorous Research on CDHPs . . . . .	248
	Consumer Search for Health Services . . . . .	249
17	The Small-Group Market . . . . .	253
	The Extent of Coverage . . . . .	253
	Small Employers and Managed Care . . . . .	255
	Reasons Why Small Employers Do and Do Not Offer Coverage . . . . .	256
	Price Sensitivity in the Small-Group Market . . . . .	259
	Reforms in the Small Group Insurance Market . . . . .	262
	Small Group Coalitions and Association Health Plans . . . . .	265
	The Small-Group Market: Diverse and Complex . . . . .	268
18	Health Insurance Regulation . . . . .	271
	Federal Regulation of Health Insurance . . . . .	271
	State Regulation of Health Insurance . . . . .	275
	Why Have State Mandates Become So Popular? . . . . .	278
	The Economics of Mandates . . . . .	279
	Line-of-Business Laws . . . . .	283
19	The Individual Insurance Market . . . . .	287
	Who Has Individual Coverage? . . . . .	287
	Insurance Providers in the Individual Market . . . . .	291
	Pooling in the Nongroup Market . . . . .	293
	The Individual Market and the Internet . . . . .	295
	Tax Credits in the Individual Market . . . . .	298
	What We Do Not Know about the Nongroup Market? . . . . .	300
20	High-Risk Pools . . . . .	303
	How Many Uninsurables Are There? . . . . .	303
	State High-Risk Pools . . . . .	304
	Effects of Premiums on Risk Pool Enrollment . . . . .	311

Part VII Medicare, Medicaid, and Private Coverage

21	An Overview of Medicare . . . . .	315
	Social Security: Medicare in Context . . . . .	315
	Medicare Hospital Insurance Coverage . . . . .	316
	Medicare Supplementary Medical Insurance . . . . .	319
	Medicare Advantage Coverage . . . . .	321
	Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage . . . . .	324
	Financing Social Security and Medicare . . . . .	327
22	Retiree Coverage . . . . .	333
	Distribution of Supplemental Coverage . . . . .	333
	Employer-Sponsored Retiree Coverage . . . . .	335
	Medigap Coverage . . . . .	340
	Effects of Supplemental Coverage on Traditional Medicare . . . . .	343
	Medicare Advantage . . . . .	344
23	Medicaid, “Crowd-Out,” and Long-Term Care Insurance . . . . .	349
	Medicaid Overview . . . . .	349
	Medicaid Recipients and Expenditures . . . . .	352
	Medicaid Covered Services . . . . .	352
	State Children’s Health Insurance Plan (SCHIP) . . . . .	356
	Medicaid “Crowd-out” . . . . .	357
	SCHIP and Crowd-out . . . . .	357
	Long-Term Care Insurance and Medicaid . . . . .	358
	The Future of Medicaid . . . . .	362
	An Endnote—A Course Summary . . . . .	367
	References . . . . .	369
	Name Index . . . . .	393
	Subject Index . . . . .	000
	About the Author . . . . .	000